

POETRY.

For My Lady's Sake.
Sweet heart, the love that lives for aye
In all the world, I find it nowhere Which neither lessens with the day, Nor changes with the night.
And to love me you have judged, That motto will take A life unending and sustained,
For my dear lady's sake.

I care not for the world's renown,
For none but you I care to please Could I but win the brightest crown, I would not leave you here.
A single minute would I find My existence made for you Where you might ever bid me reign,
For my dear lady's sake.

Since all of good I have to live, I hold it must be yours to give With smiles and sweet and stainless verse To cheer my heart and cheer my life.
And when our love is done,
And when our love is done,
And when our love is done,
For my dear lady's sake.

Peculiarities of the Pine The pines or rather the cone-bearing family of trees (the conifers) are very distinct from other vegetation in a great many of their ways and habits, as well as in structure.
While they rest more than deciduous trees in some particulars, they will succumb to other conditions which the broad-leaved sorts endure. They will not sprout again when cut down, having no latent buds on collar, stem or roots, which can serve as a reserve resource. Nor will they abide any cutting, or even mere external drying of the roots; all that are so cut perish, and only the smaller or shorter roots which remain entire and in contact with the soil, continue to grow and supply water, and receive secretion of sap from the sap sent down from the leaves.

The deciduous larch shows these peculiarities as well as the evergreens. But while so tender in these particulars, the conifers will endure external buds and strains that are fatal to other trees. We often see whole stretches of pine among which there were once growing oaks, hickories, and all that tribe. These have been exterminated by fires which have scorched but not killed the pines, and left them completely dominant—masters of the situation. So the old pines that have been cut and rubbed into the shards of turpentine from every one of a dozen great scars, still continue a healthy growth, though pitiable objects to the sight.
A very remarkable case of the endurance of a Scotch pine, when wounded as one would think to death, is to be seen in the grounds of the Hon. F. Edling, near Indianapolis.
The tree was girdled by the destruction of all the bark from fifteen inches of the trunk, when measuring the tree on the circumference. The larch was done by "sapsuckers." The branches and stem above the injury have continued to grow and the condition, and can only be cured by a remedy that enriches the nerve-fluid and allays nervous irritation, and this is accomplished by DR. BENSON'S CURE FOR NERVOUS AND CHAMOMILE PILLS. They effectually remove the causes of all nervous diseases, and the natural result is a cure—a complete and permanent cure.

As Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness, Paralysis, Hysteria, Melancholy, St. Vitus' Dance, Asthma, &c. But all of these different forms are brought about by some present exciting cause. But no nervous system is subject to these diseases unless the nerve-fluid is in an impoverished condition, and can only be cured by a remedy

Second Sight.—The science of this amusing adjunct to legitimate play very simple when the mind is clear. It is a kind of clairvoyance that backs to the audience. The wonderful secret question consists in simply putting your hand on the head of a spectator, from time to time, and rapping with the wand. The key to the stage is invariably, "An idiot." This creates much joy.—Detroit Free Press.

Greece sends despatches to fight Turkey at Another Candidate.

By a large majority the people of the United States have declared their faith in Kidney Wort as a remedy for all the diseases of the kidneys and liver. Some, however, have distinctly the trouble of preparing it from the kidneys of the dead. For such a new candidate in the shape of Kidney Wort in Liquid Form, it is very convenient. It is a very pleasant and efficient as the dry. Try it.—Louisville Examiner.

A prominent actor has written a book containing "How to Act." It won't have any sale.
People who are not actors don't want to know how to act, and where the actor who will admit that anybody can tell him how to act?

Some in a parlor: "And shall you give me for Christmas the jewel you promised me?"
"Impossible, unless between now and then."
"An honest man need only to give his word."
"Exactly—that's all I have by me for the moment."

The greatest effects have sometimes the simplest cause. Life is a disease caused by neglect of Coughs and Colds, when a 25 cent bottle of Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup would save the sufferer.

As a general beverage and necessary

Aromatic Schnapps is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public history of our country of Volupio Wolfe's Schnapps, its unqualified endorsement by the medical faculty and a sale unequalled by any other alcoholic distillation have insured for it the reputation of salubrity claimed for it. For sale by All Druggists
